

user list, view payment, view feedback and booking activities is shown in fig 6.3. These options give the admin greater control and oversight over the operations of the application, making it a valuable tool for managing and maintaining the integrity of the system.

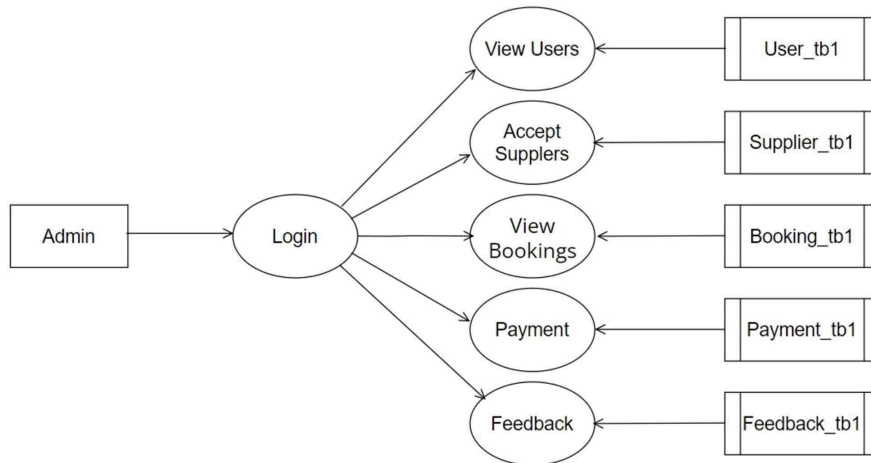

Figure 6.3: The data flow diagram of the Admin

6.3.2 User

The users are provided with the option to log in to their account using their unique username and password. Upon successful validation of the credentials, the user can access various features such as editing their profile, viewing supplier's, viewing booking details, viewing payment, viewing feedback and viewing prediction is shown in Fig 6.4. and However, if the login credentials are invalid, the users will not be able to access these features .